■ Attendance of Mayors for Peace President at the Annual Meeting of the U.S. Conference of Mayors

[Boston (MA), Cambridge (MA), Washington, D.C.; June 8-11, 2018]

Mr. Kazumi Matsui, Mayor of Hiroshima and President of Mayors for Peace, visited the U.S. to attend the 86th Annual Meeting of the United States Conference of Mayors (USCM) held in Boston, MA.

The USCM is a nonpartisan association of American cities with populations over 30,000 or more established in 1932. During the Conference’s Annual Meeting in June, many mayors get together from all over the U.S. to discuss effective city management policies on various issues such as international affairs and the environment, among others.

On June 10, Mayor Matsui had the opportunity to deliver his message at the meeting’s plenary luncheon, in which he introduced that Mayors for Peace is working to achieve two key objectives: “Realization of a world without nuclear weapons” and “Realization of safe and resilient cities”, which we believe will lead us to our ultimate goal, lasting world peace. He expressed his hope that U.S.

member cities, led by Des Moines, the U.S. Mayors for Peace Lead City, will engage in proactive activities of their own and take initiative in realizing a peaceful world, asking the mayors in attendance for support of and understanding of Mayors for Peace activities.

While he was in the U.S., Mayor Matsui also visited Cambridge, MA to give a talk to local high school students and also Washington, D.C. where he was invited to join a discussion at the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

A detailed report of Mayor Matsui's trip to the U.S. will be posted on the Mayors for Peace website soon.

■ Total Number of Iranian Member Cities Exceeds 1,000

As of June 1, 2018, the number of Iranian member cities reached 1,003. This record was achieved by the continued efforts of the staff and volunteers at the Tehran Peace Museum who have been consistently communicating with non-member cities in Iran and asking them to join the organization. The City of Tehran has been a Lead City of Mayors for Peace since 2017 and the Iranian Secretariat of Mayors for Peace is housed within the Tehran Peace Museum. Iran is now home to the second largest number of Mayors for Peace member cities in the world after Japan.

The Iranian Secretariat of Mayors for Peace wishes to invite the remaining cities to join the organization and also further activate the current network of Iranian member cities.

In conjunction with the G7 Summit held in Charlevoix in Québec, Canada on June 8 and 9, the City of Montréal, an Executive City of Mayors for Peace, launched an initiative to issue an open letter addressed to the leaders of the G7.

The letter highlights that international organizations of local authorities offer national leaders our cooperation in tackling various challenges that cities and local governments are facing around the world, including terrorism and the destruction of the environment.

Taking into account that this initiative is within the scope of one of the key objectives of the Mayors for Peace Action Plan, namely "Realization of safe and resilient cities", upon receiving our executive members' consent, we decided to support this initiative and the President of Mayors for Peace signed the letter together with ten other global associations of local authorities including Metropolis, UCLG, etc.

*Manchester City Council seeks to create new contemplative Peace Garden

A Vice President of Mayors for Peace, Manchester City Council, has announced a £4 million plan for a new contemplative Peace Garden as part of a major renovation of Lincoln Square, near the Town Hall. It is envisioned as a quiet oasis of calm in the city centre and will also be connected to the Manchester City Centre Peace Trail, of which a newly updated Children's Peace Trail is in production.

The new garden will be anchored by the city's statue of Abraham Lincoln and it will also feature two ginkgo trees grown from the seeds of a tree that survived the bombing in Hiroshima. Other ginkgo trees Manchester has received have been planted at schools and also at the Manchester Children's Hospital.

■ "Peace News from Hiroshima"

It was on May 27, 2016, that Barack Obama, who was then President of the United States, paid a visit to Hiroshima. Two years have now passed since that historic day in the A-bombed city.

A large crowd around the perimeter of the Peace Memorial Park was there to welcome Mr. Obama, and his speech was broadcast to the whole world. These were some of the words he spoke: "But among those nations like my own that hold nuclear stockpiles, we must have the courage to escape the logic of fear, and pursue a world without them."

As president of the nation which carried out the first atomic attack in human history, Mr. Obama did not mention U.S. responsibility for the bombing or offer an apology. Some criticized this stance. But his visit to Hiroshima was certainly significant in the fact that the President of the United States stressed the importance of pursuing a world without nuclear weapons.

Over the last two years, however, the world seems to have moved away from this vision. Though the Treaty on the Prohibition of Nuclear Weapons was adopted at the United Nations last year, it has not gained the support of the nuclear-armed nations, like the United States, or Japan, which itself experienced the atomic bombings. In addition, North Korea's nuclear ambitions have been a matter of grave concern. At this point, it appears that negotiations have opened the door toward a possible resolution to the problem of North Korea's nuclear arsenal. In this connection, we hope that U.S. President Donald Trump and North Korean leader Kim Jong-un will have the courage, like Mr. Obama, to visit the A-bombed city of Hiroshima.
